News, etc.

A private dispatch from Carlisle, Indiana, announces the death of Hon. J. W. Davis, of that State, formerly Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and at one time minister to China. Mr. Davis was also president of the Democratic National Convention which assembled in Baltimore in 1852, and nominated General Pierce for the Presidency.

Gokey's Lady's Book for September has already been received. The Lady's Book is a favorite with the ladies everywhere, and it deserves to be so.

A fixed fact.—That the Democratic County ticket will be triumphantly elected on the second Tuesday of October.

One Opposition candidate for Congress is elected in Kentucky by a majority of three; one in Tennessee by twenty-six; another by eighty; and another by fifty.

The London Athenaeum speaks of a new Armstrong gun killing a flock of geese six miles and seven furlongs from the English shore. A coast defended by batteries of such range and accuracy, none but geese would attempt to invade.

On the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, not far from Jackson, in Tennessee, says an exchange paper, still stands the humble log-cabin, 18 by 20 feet in size, built and occupied, while he lived in the district, by the far famed David Crockett.

The London Court Journal, through its Paris correspondent, tells us that there have been serious feuds between the Empress Eugenie and the Princess Clothilde, Victor Emmanuel's daughter.

The Reading Gazette says that a snapping turtle, the largest ever caught in Berks county, weighing 22 lbs., and "able to crawl with a man on his back," was secured a few days ago in the vicinity of Kutztown.

The "big tunnel" on the Corington and Ohio Railroad, in Greenbrier county, Va., is 4,700 feet long, and 700 feet below the surface of the earth. It is 300 feet longer than the Blue Ridge tunnel. The width is twenty-seven feet, to accommodate a double track, and the height is 23.

Roasting pigs and chickens over the glowing fissures in the lava stream of the Honolulu volcano is a fire-side amusement of the Sandwich Islanders.

The few who compose the chief or "Superior Council" of the Know Nothing Black Republican opposition in this county, have resolved to ignore everything like truth and fairness in the present canvass. No trick is too mean, no falsehood too base, for their uses, so ravenous have their appetite for office become.

On Monday week, the Sentinel, in a very smooth-tongued manner, "intimated" that Capt. Dixie had voted against Mr. Will last year. We flatly contradicted it in our last. And, now, the slander is revamped in the Star, with an additional falsehood, viz: that Capt. Dixie also voted against Mr. Kline. Both fabrications are out of the same cloth, and are intended to delude into the support of the Know Nothing ticket a few voters from a class of citizens whom the candidates upon that ticket, and the managers who made it, have sworn to proscriber and crush! Capt. Dixie is not the manner of man the managers would have the people believe him to be. He is upright in all his doings, and we have his own authority and that of others, for saying that he voted an open, full Democratic ticket, seen by all around him, as such tickets usually are seen by those standing near. This, we are sure, will be considered satisfactory by all reasonable men. The Star managers are not expected to convince. It is not their interest to be convinced.

No Hope for the Opposition.

As some misapprehension exists on the subject of the election of a President by the House of Representatives in the event of a failure on the part of the people, says the Washington States, we present the clauses of the Constitution regulating such elections, and the strength of each party, as shown by the elections that have taken place.

Art. 12 of the Constitution, in regard to choosing the President by the House of Representatives, provides:

"But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation for each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice."

There are 33 States; necessary to a choice, 17. Elections have been held in 28 States, with the following result:

Democratic—Alabama, Arkansas, California, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Missouri, South Carolina, Virginia, Texas, Oregon—11.
Republican—Connecticut, Iowa, Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Ohio, Vermont, Wisconsin—12.
Opposition—Tennessee—1.
Tied—Michigan, North Carolina, Kentucky—2.

Of the five States yet to elect, in the last election the Democrats carried Minnesota, Mississippi, Georgia, and Louisiana, four; and Maryland was tied.

If the delegations from these States stand in the next as in the last Congress, the Democrats will have fifteen, Republicans thirteen, Opposition one, and four States tied. So that by no union or combination they elect a President by the House of Representatives, unless they carry three out of the five States yet to elect.

The same article of the Constitution further provides:

"And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the 4th day of March next following, then the President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President."

In the event of the failure of the people to choose the Vice President, the Senate chooses, and "a majority of the whole number of Senators shall be necessary to a choice."

The next Senate will consist of sixty-six members; necessary to a choice, 34. The Democrats have 28, Republicans 24, Americans 2, Texas and Oregon one each to elect. So that, unless the Republicans and Opposition carry three of the States of Minnesota, Mississippi, Georgia, Louisiana, and Maryland, they will be powerless in the House of Representatives in choosing a President.

The Democrats not having sufficient strength to choose their candidate, in such contingency, the Vice President—to be elected by a Democratic Senate—will be the President.

The Black Republican Disappointment in Oregon.

The Black Republicans were in ecstasies of delight at the supposed election of their friend David Logan as representative to Congress from Oregon. The vast superstructure of Abolition triumphs which they built on the slender foundation of the Logan victory was quite startling. But alas! "there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," and, instead of Black Republican Logan being the representative, a starting Democrat, Lansing Stuart, has now the prize, and can write the much-coveted letters M. C. after his name during the Thirty-sixth Congress, and as long thereafter as his constituents and a kind Providence will permit.

Of course this calamity has been brought about by the Administration party's use of "Missouri Border Ruffianism and Leecompton infamy," and is the result of "gross irregularities and frauds." The Tribune is evidently chagrined at this disappointment, and vents its spleen in the following series of interrogatories, which are intended to be very sarcastic: "Where will Lane be in 1860?" "Where the party which he represents?" "Where the State, hurried into the Union because the South desired her electoral votes?" We have not time to do more than ask where David Logan is in 1859?

Exhibiting their Weakness!

The Star and the Sentinel, convinced of the weakness of the Know Nothing Black Republican party in this county, it cannot elude a solitary man on that ticket, are "trying out" the bug, with the hope of humbugging a few Democrats into its support. The Opposition managers only exhibit the weakness of their party by such a course.

To bolster up the sinking fortunes of Mr. DeMowar, they throw out the idea that considerable numbers of Democrats will vote for him. This is all bosh—every word of it—and they know it to be so. Democrats of Adams are not quite as venal as all that would indicate them to be. They owe Mr. Durlow nothing—he has deserved nothing at their hands. Did he show any favor to the Democratic party whilst in the Legislature? Not on any, even the most important, occasion. In his every vote involving the selection of individuals to office—from State Treasurer down to the lowest clerk—heaver in the Capitol—Samuel Durlow carried out the infamous oath he took in the Montgomery Council of proscriptive and tyrannical Know Nothingism, and his implied obligation as a sectional Black Republican superadded, by voting against every Democrat presented for these places, no matter how capable or needy. He is in his course noted the part of a decided and uncompromising political opponent—and Democrats will treat him as he deserves at their hands, by voting for their own popular and unexceptionable candidate, Frederick Diehl!

The Opposition organs had better strike up some other tune—that is played out already.

The Star writers, to break the force of Mr. Hesser's "temporary residence," allude to the fact that the editor of this paper is a native of an adjoining county. The position lacks point. We are not a candidate for Commissioner—Mr. Hesser is!—He'll wish, though, by the time the election is over, that he had kept out of the field, and somebody else occupied his boots!

The greatest liar is sometimes believed, merely because he keeps a bold face in putting forth his falsehoods. So it is with the Star managers. They pretend to be confident of the correctness of Mr. DeMowar's votes in the Legislature last winter. A little pause, gentlemen, and you will find the "mark" with more force than you or he may have stomach for.

The Potato Rot is said to be very prevalent throughout the province of New Brunswick.

God hears the heart without the words, but never hears the words without the heart.

Returned to Slavery.—The Bayou Sara (La.) Ledger states that the slaves of the Carney estate who were liberated and sent from East Feliciana to Cincinnati a few months since, returned on the steamer, a few days ago, to prefer slavery in Louisiana to freedom in Ohio.

God hears the heart without the words, but never hears the words without the heart.

God hears the heart without the words, but never hears the words without the heart.

Paying too Dear for the Whistle!

The Star managers, or "Superior Councilors," are evidently beginning to realize how wretchedly they lugged the job when they fashioned out their present County Ticket. Every more they make only shows how utterly they lack confidence in its strength. Everything they do has but one object—the securing of Democratic support.

The re-nomination of Samuel DeMowar, they could not well avoid, although it is notorious that some of the more cautious of them doubted the policy of so doing. But he had already, in advance, paid for his position on a ticket; and, beside, if re-elected, he might be of more service than any other one in again securing for a favorite oracle in the "Council" a winter's berth at Harrisburg.

The latter consideration had a controlling influence in this nomination, but the result will demonstrate to the rank and file of the party that the leaders "paid too dearly for that whistle."

This is not the only point in the ticket in which the pecuniary interests of an office-seeking and office-holding leader were consulted, at the cost of the sacrifice of some of the most unexceptionable men in their ranks.

We stated, several weeks ago, that it was strange, passing strange, that Jacob Hesser should receive the nomination for Commissioner over such men as James Marshall, of A., David Shnyder, and others; and this has led the people to make inquiries about it, and they too are coming to the conclusion that the choice, in view of the facts apparent on the surface, is a very singular one. There is but one way to explain it—and it exposes the mystery to the core—that oracle whose word is law in the "Superior Council" has a long eye also on the Commissioners' Clerkship! True, as Mr. Hesser is not engaged in any particular occupation or profession, the office would be a snug thing for him—but his simple desire in the premises would not have secured him success. Some weight behind that was required, and of course there was everything to induce "the pair of noble brothers" to risk their fortunes in the same boat. That they will, on the day of trial, go down together, is very sure; but we are disposed to keep them on the surface in the mean time, to give a trifle more life to the campaign.

All the clan-trap letters which the "Superior Councilors" can concoct, and publish in the Star and Sentinel, will not "save an ounce of their bacon." Especially when their tricks are as immediately transparent as the Hesser communication in the last Star. That is one of the "weakest inventions of the enemy." The attempted disguise is too thin—the favorite expressions of the Star writers, "staved-driven," &c., ring in it too harmoniously to come from "A Democrat." Old Hamilton has not a solitary Democrat within its borders who would begin to talk in that style. No, not one! The language employed is that of the "Superior Councilors," and as such we shall treat it.

Now, gentlemen, come to the scratch. The Compiler stated that David Hesser has been little more than a temporary resident of the county. Do you deny it? If so, give us the facts. Has he not, since he has been 15 years of age, spent nearly all his time out of the county? First, a number of years in Franklin county—then probably ten years at Pittsburg—then off on long tours to Nebraska, Oregon, and other distant points, requiring several more years—in short, residing out of the county nearly all the time until within the last year or two, since which he has lived in or about East Berlin. If this constitutes any more than a "temporary residence," we should like to see it figured out.

Further—the Star writers try to make the impression that Mr. Hesser is a poor man, and hint that the Compiler opposes him on that account! No "Democrat" would assert so ridiculous a thing, because no Democrat would be so lacking in common sense. Mr. Hesser is reputed well off—as having something handsome "laid by for a rainy day." But that—so rumor speaks—his means are all except about $1,400 so invested as not to be reached by State or County taxes. We accept common report in this particular as the only means of information, because most men are not very communicative in regard to their private investments.

Surely the people will agree with us, in view of all these facts, that Mr. Hesser's nomination is very strange! His election would be still more strange. But there are no fears on that score, as James H. Marshall is not to be beaten by such a bag.

McClure.

From the Lebanon Advertiser:

McClure, who is expected to be speaker of the last House of Representatives of the Pennsylvania Legislature, has presented the editors of the Valley Spirit of Chambersburg for libel. It makes a great difference with the Opposition whose ox is gored. Their papers are continually filled with the vilest abuse of Democrats, but as soon as a shot is fired at them they run to the law for protection. No one has been more personal and bitter in his political warfare than McClure, and now he is the first one to show the "white feather."

From the Hollidaysburg Standard:

A. K. McClure has such the Valley Spirit for libel. He forgets, however, that the truth can now be given in a prosecution for libel. He should at least have recollected that he was once an editor himself, and that his pen and tongue have perpetrated as many libelous untruths upon Democratic men and measures as that of any man within the limits of the State. All he gains by the prosecution will not add much to his reputation.

From the Fulton Democrat:

A. K. McClure has brought a suit for libel against Messrs. Durlow, Mengel and Boyle, of the Valley Spirit. This is a poor way for a politician to patch up a character. The Colonel is a public character and should have made the charges against him before the public and disproved them before that tribunal. He will not gain credit by an attempt to intimidate the press by libel suits.

From the Carlisle Volunteer:

This prosecution of the editors of the Valley Spirit by Col. McClure, is a very small business. The Colonel has been an editor himself, and was noted for the severity and recklessness of his writings. Had any one desired to punish him by a resort to the law, he might have been convicted of libel a thousand times. It does not become him, therefore, to attempt to scorch his character by a libel suit. A slight slip of the tongue often constitutes libel, but yet few men whose characters are worth talking about, attempt to sustain them by taking advantage of the law.

Local Affairs.

A Woods Meeting.

Will be held in Wilson's Grove, near Berdsville, commencing on Friday evening, the 9th of September, by the Methodist Episcopal Church of Berdsville, it being the second quarterly meeting of York Springs Circuit. It is expected the Rev. Mr. Sizer will be present.

And also, on Saturday, the 10th of September, there will be a Public Sunday School Celebration, held in the same Grove, by the Sunday School Union of the above Church.

Sabbath School Pic Nic.

The Sabbath School of Christ (Lutheran) Church left this on Friday morning, at 7 o'clock, in the cars, for the Conowingo, near New Oxford, where they spent a delightful day, returning in the evening about 7. The wet weather on Wednesday prevented them going on that day, as previously announced.

The Sabbath School connected with St. James (Lutheran) Church had their Pic Nic on the same day at Spangler's Spring, a mile and a half from town. They also had a very pleasant time of it, and returned well pleased—notwithstanding the shower.

The "good things" provided for both were, of course, nicely gotten up and plentiful.

The German Reformed Sabbath School

will go to the Conowingo on Wednesday next.

Band Chariot.

The Democratic Band of this place are building one of the most magnificent Band Chariots ever seen in this region of country.

Some weeks will be required to complete it, but when turned out it will demonstrate that "some things may be done as well as others"—if not a little better.

Eagle Shot.

A few days ago, Mr. George Y. Hoffman, of Mountpleasant township, shot an Eagle, measuring seven feet three inches from tip to tip of the wings. The bird was brought down by the ball striking its head, but producing only a slight wound, it has since entirely recovered. It is a splendid specimen, and would be disposed of to any one desiring to exhibit or possess it. Mr. Hoffman is hard to excel as a marksman.

Don't Forget the Box.

Our generous-minded postmaster, George Greer, Esq., has procured, and placed in a conspicuous place, in the Post Office, a secure box, into which all lovers of the memory of our own good, great, immortal Washington, can drop their contributions to the "Washington National Monument," and it will be faithfully forwarded to the Capital, without any expense. This is, we believe, the best method of accomplishing this great work. All other plans were attended with more or less expense, to which this will not be subject. Again we say, don't forget the box.

Adams Express.

Messrs. BARKER & WINTER have been appointed Agents for Adams' Express Company at New Oxford. They are attentive and obliging gentlemen, and will render every satisfaction. The office will be found a decided convenience to that place.

Mr. Joseph Broadhead, of Harrisburg, has for some time occupied the position of Express Messenger between this point and the Hanover Junction, and has made himself, by his promptness, correctness and disposition to accommodate, popular with all. No better man for the post could be secured, and notwithstanding our good wishes for him, we hope he will never be promoted to any other route.

Frederick and Emmitsburg Turnpike.

The Board of Directors of the Frederick and Emmitsburg Turnpike Road Company, will receive Proposals until Wednesday, the 17th day of September next, for the purpose of making the unfinished portion of the road from Emmitsburg, a distance of between five and six miles. The road is to be made of a grade of 24 feet, 18 feet to be covered with stone, of a depth of 12 inches in the middle and 6 inches at the sides. All communications to be directed to Geo. Schlosser, President, at Lewisburg, Frederick county, Maryland, and endorsed thereon. "Proposals."

Taken Down.

We were "taken down" twice last week—first, by the present of a large basket of tomatoes (two weighing thirteen pounds) eggs, plants and onions, all of the mammoth order, from Mr. John Jones, the accomplished and obliging Gardener at St. Mary's College, near Emmitsburg; and, secondly, by another basket of very fine tomatoes, from our good friend, Mr. CORNELIUS DARGENTY, of Cumberland township. These gentlemen have our heart-felt thanks.

Circus.

SANDS, NATHANS & Co's. Great Circus will visit this place on Thursday, Sept. 8th. It is represented as the best in the country, and as drawing vast crowds everywhere. The sight of a steam machine instrument will of itself be worth a "quarter" to those to whom it may be new. See advertisement in another column.

Injured by Looking from a Car Window.

An accident of a serious nature occurred at our railroad station on Tuesday evening, by which a gentleman named Trimmer, by trade a mason, residing near New Oxford, was very badly injured and made a miraculous escape from death. The accident occurred at the outer end of the station house, and was caused by Mr. Trimmer peering his head from the window at the time the car was moving. In passing the post, which our readers are aware stands in a very dangerous proximity to the side of the car, his head was struck and badly out. A large cotton behind the left ear was the only apparent result, but it is a matter of surprise that he was not instantly killed.—Haver Spectator.

This region was visited by several refreshing rains last week—helping the suffering corn, and enabling the farmers to go on with seeding.

In Montgomery county the Opposition are fighting like Kilkenny cats. The two wings, American and Republican, have each a separate organization and are dealing each other the heaviest blows they can strike.

On Tuesday last, some forty of the Students of St. Mary's College, near Emmitsburg, accompanied by the respected Vice President, Mr. McCloskey, and several Tutors, arrived in this place, by coaches, at half past nine, and proceeded to Hanover by special train, returning at noon. They then spent an hour or more in visiting Pennsylvania College and other points of attraction, when they sat down to a first-class dinner at the Franklin House, gotten up in McCLELLAN'S last style, and to which full justice was done. They left for Emmitsburg during the afternoon, very much pleased with the excursion—and, doubtless, regretting that such days are too much like Christmas, in that they "come but once a year."

The annual catalogue has just been published, and presents a very handsome report. The Seniors number 14, Juniors 22, Sophomores 26, Freshmen 29, Partial course 7, Primaries 20, Junior Preparations 51—in all 169. The Commencement Exercises will take place on Thursday, September 15th. During the preceding days of that week, various addresses will be delivered before the Seniors of the College, the Littman Association, the Alumni, the Bible Society, &c. A very interesting time is anticipated, as there will be a general re-union of the Alumni of the Institutions.

Railroad Excursion.

Mr. John A. Light, of Lebanon, who ascended in his Balloon at Chambersburg, at 3 o'clock on Saturday last, landed safely in a little over an hour, near Mr. ABRAHAM KNEIS, in Freedom township, five miles from this place. He crossed the mountain in a nearly direct line for Gettysburg, but in descending another current, was carried southward—otherwise he would most probably have landed within our borough limits.—Mr. L. was immediately brought to this place with his Balloon. He left for Chambersburg, soon after, directing the Balloon to be expressed to Lebanon. The ascension was witnessed at Chambersburg by an immense throng of admiring spectators.

A Camp Meeting of the M. E. Church will be held on the land of Mr. Laughlin, one mile east of Newville, to commence on Wednesday, September 14th.

It is not true that the Democrats of Berks county last week selected Douglas delegates to the State Convention. The Democratic Convention of that county meets to-morrow.

The orderly citizens of Baltimore, irrespective of party, are getting up a movement to defeat the candidates of the rowdy clubs at the next election. Such seems to be the only course now left.

The mornings and evenings are becoming quite cool. Excellent game weather this. All that is needed to bring on the snakes is a quart of butter milk and the sunny side of a cellar door.

Another Homicide.—Shortly after twelve o'clock on Monday night a terrible and bloody homicide was perpetrated on a young man named Humphrey O'Sullivan, as alleged by Thomas Hoffman and Robert Miller. The victim was standing in front of the house No. 106 Holliday street, near Pleasant street, when two men approached from the direction of Saratoga street, one of whom, it is alleged, fired the fatal shot at the head of the victim. The latter had with several of his friends been to a dance on Fell's Point, and was returning to his home when he was killed. The ball entered the left side of the back of his head, passed through to the left temple and glancing lodged above the right eye, whence it was extracted by Dr. G. E. Morgan. The report of the gun was heard by the police at the central station, and Capt. Mitchell, with Lieut. Wright and officers Robinson and J. Mitchell ran to the scene of the homicide. John Snyder, one of the companions of O'Sullivan, had stopped some ten or twelve feet in advance towards Bath street when the shot was fired. He fled, but was struck by the ball in the left thigh, indicating that the party who fired was elevated from the level of the sidewalk. Robert Miller, one of the accused, was found on the spot with the deceased man, and was arrested and taken to the police station. The body of O'Sullivan was removed to the police house and the officers related to the house No. 106 Holliday street, kept by a woman named Elizabeth Stou
